Documents Required for Driver License or ID Card
When applying for a learner’s permit, driver license, or ID card, you must provide the following original documentation:

• Proof of identification
• Proof of residential address (two different documents)
• All original immigration documents (passport, I-94, I-20 or DS-2019
• EAD Card (if you have applied for and obtained work authorization)
• SSN Card (if you have one) or SSN Receipt (if you recently applied for one)

Temporary Permit
• Non-U.S. Citizens applying for an original driver license will be issued a 60-day temporary paper permit without a photo and receipt. Non-U.S. Citizens applying for an ID card will be issued a receipt. Upon identity and legal status verification, a driver license or ID card will be issued within 60 days and mailed to the address on the driving record.
• If lawful status or identification is not verified, a denial of issuance letter will be mailed to you.

Other Things to Consider
• If you are an F-1 student applying soon after arrival or at the beginning of a semester, you should be sure the CGE has “registered” you in the SEVIS system before applying. If you are a J-1 scholar or student applying soon after arrival, you should be sure that FSU or your program sponsor has validated your SEVIS record before applying for a driver license.

• You must apply in person at a service center (even for renewal or replacement licenses).

• If you are a transfer student with a driver license from another state, you should apply for a Florida License within 30 days of moving to Florida.

• If you have a license issued by another U.S. state, you may not need to retake the written or driving tests (however you may still need to take the vision and hearing tests).

• If you change residence, you should replace your license within 10 days of moving.
