Today's global economy requires graduates who are both academically and cross-culturally prepared to succeed in a diverse, multicultural world.

Through active learning and reflection, the Global Citizenship Certificate (GCC) helps undergraduate students develop invaluable skills and competencies needed to be global-ready graduates.

Students take academic courses and participate in cross-cultural engagement opportunities on campus, in the community, and abroad.

"The Global Citizenship Certificate changes your perception of others and allows you to be more open minded when encountering people from a different background."
