

Before issuing your Certificate of Eligibility for Non-immigrant Student Status Form I-20 (for F-1 status), Florida State University is required by law to verify that you have sufficient financial resources to support yourself and all dependents during the first 12-months of your program.

Remember: your I-20 can only be issued after official admission to FSU (not just acceptance into the academic program by the academic department). Once your FSU admission has been fully processed, it will take approximately 3 days for the admissions systems to transfer your profile into the Nole Start immigration system. At this time, you will receive an email with instructions for applying for your I-20 in Nole Start. You will upload this document and proof of financial support as part of the application process.
