

The Center for Global Engagement Presents
ENGAGE YOUR WORLD
Speaker Series

Peace Corps Panel

Thursday, November 7

5 p.m. Reception | 5:30 p.m. Panel

The Globe Auditorium

Join the Center for Global Engagement and the Learning Systems Institute at FSU for an engaging Peace Corps panel as part of the Engage Your World Speaker Series. The event will be held on Thursday, November 7, at 5 p.m. in The Globe Auditorium. Attendees will hear from three returned Peace Corps volunteers who served in Botswana, Malawi, and Ukraine. The panelists will share their experiences serving in those communities and offer insights into the challenges and rewards of international service.

In addition to the panelists, FSU's Peace Corps Recruiter, Madeline Leaman (RPCV Ukraine), will be available to answer questions about the Peace Corps application process. With new openings posted in November, this is the perfect time for FSU students and community members to explore the Peace Corps as an international service opportunity.

The Peace Corps is a volunteer program run by the U.S. government that sends Americans abroad to work in underserved communities, focusing on education, health, the environment, agriculture, youth development, and economic development. Founded in 1961 by President John F. Kennedy, the organization's mission is to promote world peace and friendship by providing technical assistance, helping communities meet their development needs, and fostering mutual understanding between Americans and people of other countries.
